PREFACE

Global Education is part of our ministry and mission! This Global Directory of the International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges and Universities (IAMSCU) shows that our schools, colleges, theological schools, and universities are providing leadership in various parts of the world.

Methodism began within the University of Oxford, England. John and Charles Wesley were people of faith, but aimed at connecting faith and reason. They insisted on vital piety, but complemented it with knowledge. They saw the importance of science, but also insisted on ethics.

This holistic perspective has inspired various educational projects, starting with Kingswood School, in England, founded by John Wesley in 1748. It then expanded to Europe, the Americas, Asia, Africa, Latin America and other parts of the world. Today, we have a global connection spanning 5 continents, nearly 80 countries, and more than 1,000 institutions serving their communities and promoting the connection between church and society, between faith and knowledge, between tradition and innovation.

The General Board of Higher Education and Ministry continues this legacy. We were founded in 1866. We helped to reconstruct countries plagued by war, we provided training to missionaries who started new schools, we witnessed the development of fine colleges and universities, we offered support to leading theological schools forming new leaders for the Church. We expanded our worldwide connections and helped to create the International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU). Today, in 2016, as we celebrate 25 years of IAMSCU and 150 years of our Board of Education, we rejoice in the publication of this Global Directory.

You have in your hands the evidence that the seeds planted by the Wesleys have now grown into a vast tree, a global network of institutions related to Methodist education. It is with great joy that I share this publication with you. I hope that individuals, families, churches, communities, institutions, and organizations make great use of this material in their educational ministry and mission.

Kim Cape, General Secretary

GENERAL BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION AND MINISTRY

INTRODUCTION

The International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU) was formed in 1991 in order to connect educational institutions related to the various Methodist churches around the world. These institutions were all created with a common goal, established by John Wesley himself, of uniting knowledge and vital piety.

This Global Directory of International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU) provides listings of the schools, colleges, theological schools, and universities affiliated to our organization. These institutions serve students, employ faculty and staff, contribute to their communities, and partner with local churches in a variety of ministries. They provide the ethical foundations upon which our societies rest. They teach the most fundamental values that guide individuals for the rest of their lives. They perform research that saves lives, promote progress, and finds innovative solutions to difficult problems. We also promote service to communities, including access to culture, sports, health, justice, human rights, peace, and leadership. In all this, we follow the scriptures, teachings, life examples, and spiritual values that transcend the limits of our contingent history. Through IAMSCU we are building on Wesley's legacy and forming global citizens that become the leaders for the church and the world.

2016 is a very special year for us as we celebrate 25 Years of IAMSCU. We have planned many special moments and initiatives. One of the most important projects is the publication of this Global Directory of International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU).

This Global Directory offers you a glimpse of global Methodist education. It reflects the work of various churches in the Wesleyan and Methodist traditions, including the United Methodist Church, African Methodist Episcopal Church, Methodist Church of Brazil, Uniting Church of Australia, Christian Methodist Church, Church of the Nazarene, Free Methodist Church, United Church in Canada, Uniting Church of Australia, and many others that share the same Wesleyan origin.

The Global Directory lists nearly 1,000 institutions in 5 continents and almost 80 countries. This is certainly a very important tool for students, their families, institutions, and communities. I also hope this directory will motivate more engagement among our students, teachers, professors, staff, and leadership. It shall be an important guide to motivate more cooperation among our institutions and many other schools, colleges, theological schools, and universities around the world.

Marcio de Moraes, President

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF METHODIST-RELATED SCHOOLS, COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES (IAMSCU)
Brazil

This Global Directory brings together listings of educational institutions related to the Wesleyan and Methodist traditions in various countries. The relationship between educational institutions and churches is very unique and diverse. It includes schools, colleges, universities, and theological seminaries. Some of these institutions maintain historical links to the Methodist tradition, many others are directly affiliated to a denomination, and yet others are part of ecumenical initiatives. This relationship is, above all, a form of partnership. The Church relates to institutions and the institutions are related to the Church.

The first Methodist school was founded in England by John Wesley in 1748, Kingswood School. Today, Methodist education is present in 5 global regions, representing almost 80 countries, involving nearly 1,000 schools, serving around 1.25 million students who are connected to a worldwide community of around 80 million people in the Wesleyan and Methodist traditions.

We researched various documents, contacted various partners, and worked together with other institutions in order to gather the information listed on this Global Directory. We will update this publication periodically with corrections, additions or new information you send to us: global-ed@gbhem.org

The Global Directory is divided according to the following categories:

- Regions
- Countries
- Institutions

The institutions in this Global Directory are classified according to different criteria and symbols:

- Schools (preschool, kindergarten, elementary, and secondary levels)
- Colleges (institutions offering Professional Training, Certificate, Associate, Bachelor, Baccalaureate, License, Diploma, and other degrees at the Higher Education level)
- Theological Seminaries (institutions providing training for clergy at various levels, including Certificate, Undergraduate, Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral programs)
- Universities (accredited institutions offering comprehensive teaching, research, and service at various levels, including Bachelor, Graduate, Masters, and Doctoral programs)

We hope this information is helpful to all those who want to learn more about Global Education in the Wesleyan and Methodist traditions or establish connections to the various institutions affiliated to the International Association of Methodist-related Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU). We acknowledge the support of the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry (GBHEM), which made possible the publication of this Global Directory.

METHODIST GLOBAL EDUCATION

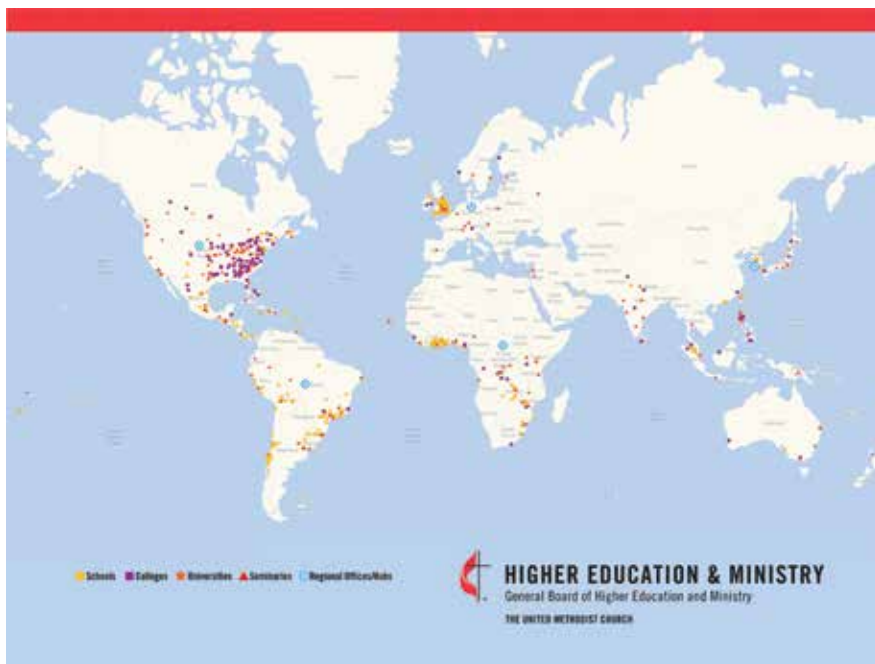

A New Model of Partnership

A NEW CONCEPT

A new model of cooperation on Methodist Global Education is based on partnership and implemented through shared vision, shared responsibilities, and shared costs. This concept reflects the global, interrelated, and multicultural nature of the Methodist worldwide connection.

A NEW INTER-REGIONAL GLOBAL STRUCTURE

We now work with five geographic regions – Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, and North America. Each region is able to engage people, organize regional associations, raise or pool funds, offer institutional structures, and support local sites and programs. Each region is inter-connected with the others, thus sharing expertise, providing assistance, and promoting connectionalism at the global level. This is a global framework that values local input, promotes agency, recognizes regional differences, and has greater global impact.

REGIONAL HUB CONTACT INFORMATION

We work with a decentralized structure. Our Regional Offices serve as contact points for the MGEFLD, IAMSCU, and regional associations. They work as GBHEM Hubs and are sensitive to local culture, speak the local languages, and know the local contacts. They function as partners and connect each region to our global network.
